Subject: Invitation to Meet with DC Education Policy Fellowship Program

I'm writing at the suggestion of Betty Hale, Vice President at the Institute for Education Leadership. I would like to invite you to meet with the current fellows of the DC Education Policy Fellowship Program (EPFP) on Wednesday evening, May 31, to discuss charter schools in American education.

We'll meet at IEL from 6:30 to 8:00 or perhaps 8:30 p.m. The topic of our discussion will be "choice, charters, and competition" in education. There may also be a speaker from the Center on Education Reform or someone else on vouchers. We meet quite informally. I'd want you to talk for about 15 minutes on charter schools and then participate in Q&A or discussion to follow. (If you're able to join us, I can go over more specific issues you might want to touch on for your remarks.)

The fellows are a lively group. There would be roughly 20 of them from such organizations around town as the American Institutes for Research, Council for Basic Education, Education Testing Service, National Alliance of Business, National Association of Secondary School Principals, National Center on Education and the Economy, New American Schools, Arlington and Fairfax County Public Schools, the U.S. Department of Education, and one lone professor from UVA.

I would be delighted to give you further information about the group, the program, or the evening's agenda.

Please give me a call at 202-822-8405 x38 to let me know of your availability or raise any questions, or you may fax me at 202-872-4050 or email me at moormanh@iel.org.

I hope very much that you can join us.

Thank you.

Hunter Moorman
